Art Unit: 1722

1. In view of the decision by the Director of Technology Center 1700 in paper No. 10, dated Feb. 11, 2002, the finality of the office action dated Nov. 18, 2001 is hereby withdrawn.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-3, and 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakamori et al and further in view of Combs for the same reasons as set forth in the last office action.

Art Unit: 1722

5. Claims 1-3 and 5-8 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Zurecki et al or Longo et al and further in view of Combs for the same reasons as set forth in the last office action.

6. Applicant's arguments filed October 17, 2001 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

a. With respect to the claimed composition of claim 2, Nakamori et al show the claimed range (see, for example, col. 4, line 12+).

b. With respect to the argument that the prior art references do not show to increase the strength of the alloy while maintaining ductility (see page 4, second paragraph of the argument present in paper No. 5, dated October 17, 2001 and page 2, first paragraph of paper No. 7, dated Nov. 15, 2001), it is noted that the scope of the claim does not clearly describe from what strength the strength is increased and under what ductility the ductility is maintained. Further, since both Nakamori et al and Combs direct to spraying technique to deposit alloy onto a substrate, it is expected that the deposit alloy of Nakamori et al with the Ospray technique of Combs will also increase its strength while maintaining ductility, as the claimed process does.

c. Applicants argued (paper No. 5, page 4) that Nakamori et al do not show the Opray technique. However, Combs does show that Opray technique is conventional. Applicants further stated that Combs fails to teach the claimed composition. However, Nakamore et al do show to coat the turbine blade with 50 Ni-50Cr alloy. Thus, applicants' individual argument to each prior art references without viewing the prior art teaching as a whole is not deemed to be persuasive. One cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

e. In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
